Anas and The Spiritual Phrases series 5/5

La ilaha illa Allah

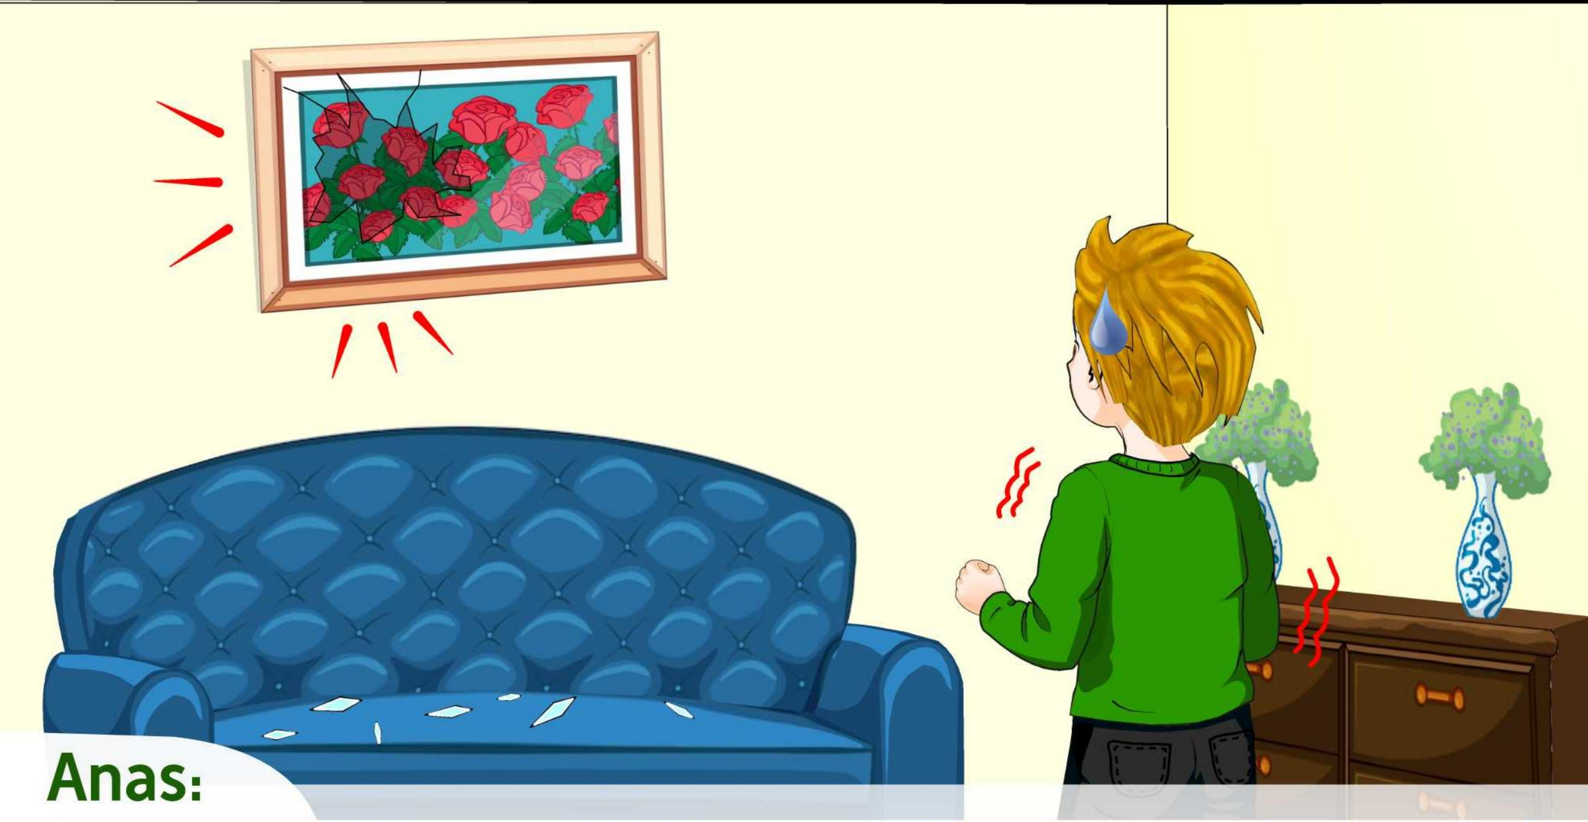

Written and illustrated by:
The Protected by Allah

Anas:

Oh no... The ball hit the frame...

Anas:

It's broken. What should I do? I know; I'll hide.

Dad:

What is this?... The frame is broken. La ilaha illa Allah, la ilaha illa Allah!

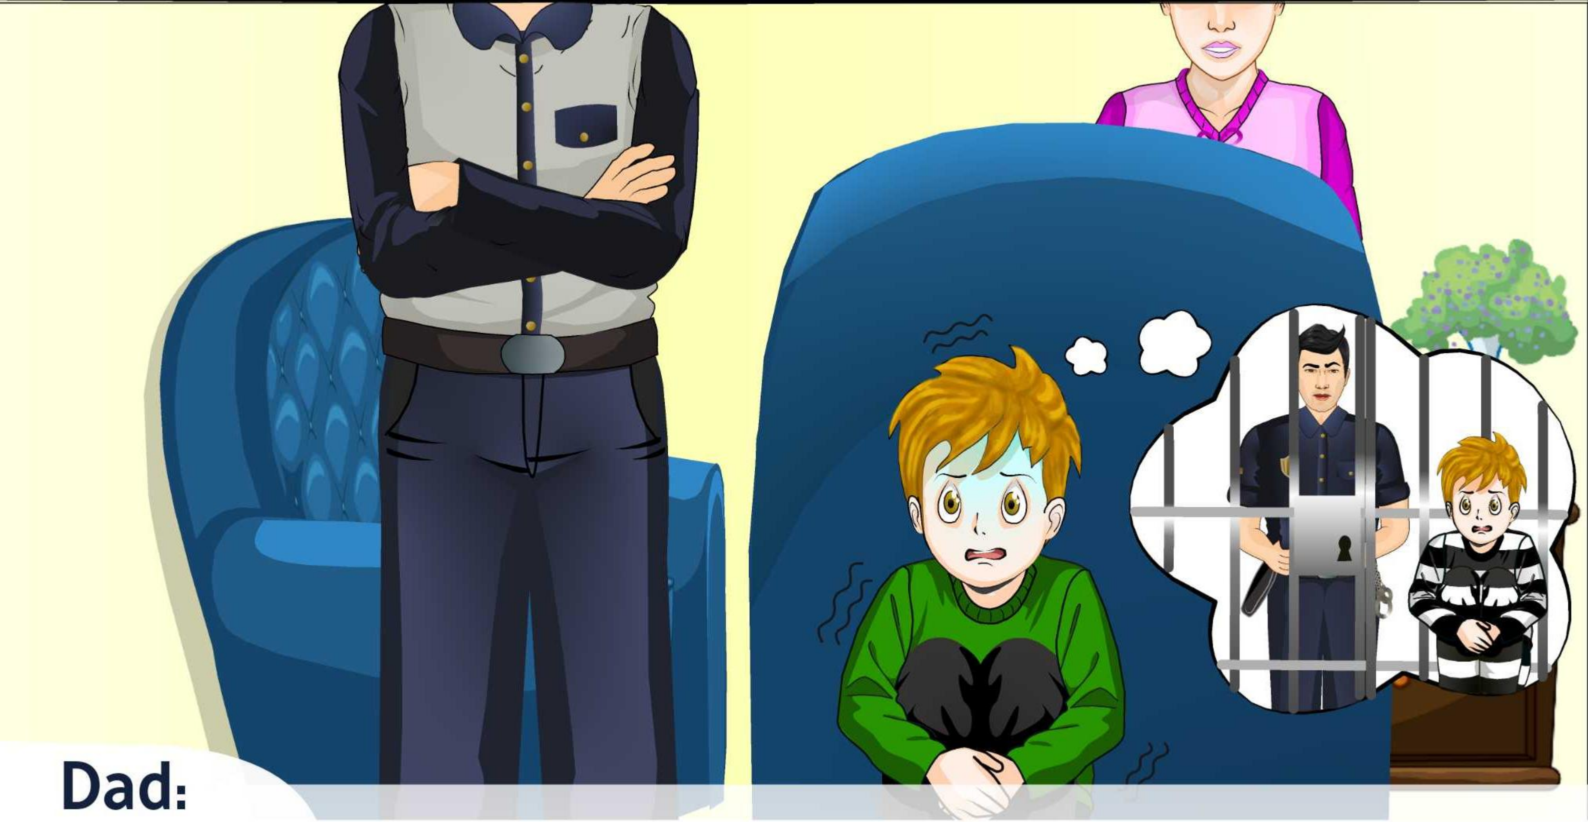

Mom:

What's wrong with you?... Oh my God, to Allah we belong and to Him we shall return!

Mom:

Look at the ball here.

Dad:

Anas is also here.

Anas:

Dad, Mom, forgive me, I didn't mean to.

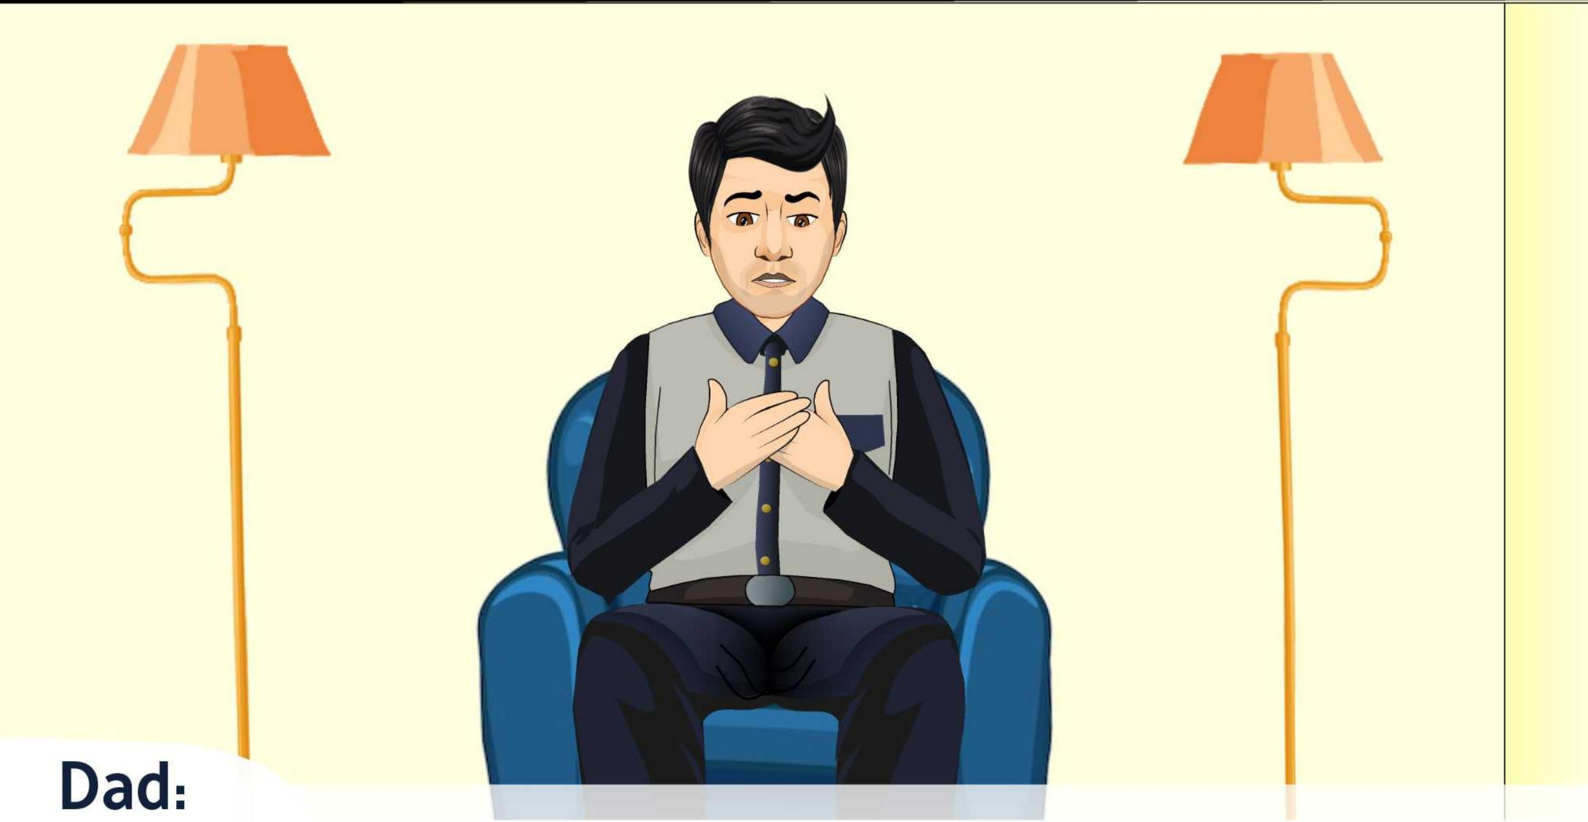

Dad:

There is no god but Allah. . . . It's okay, but be careful from now on.

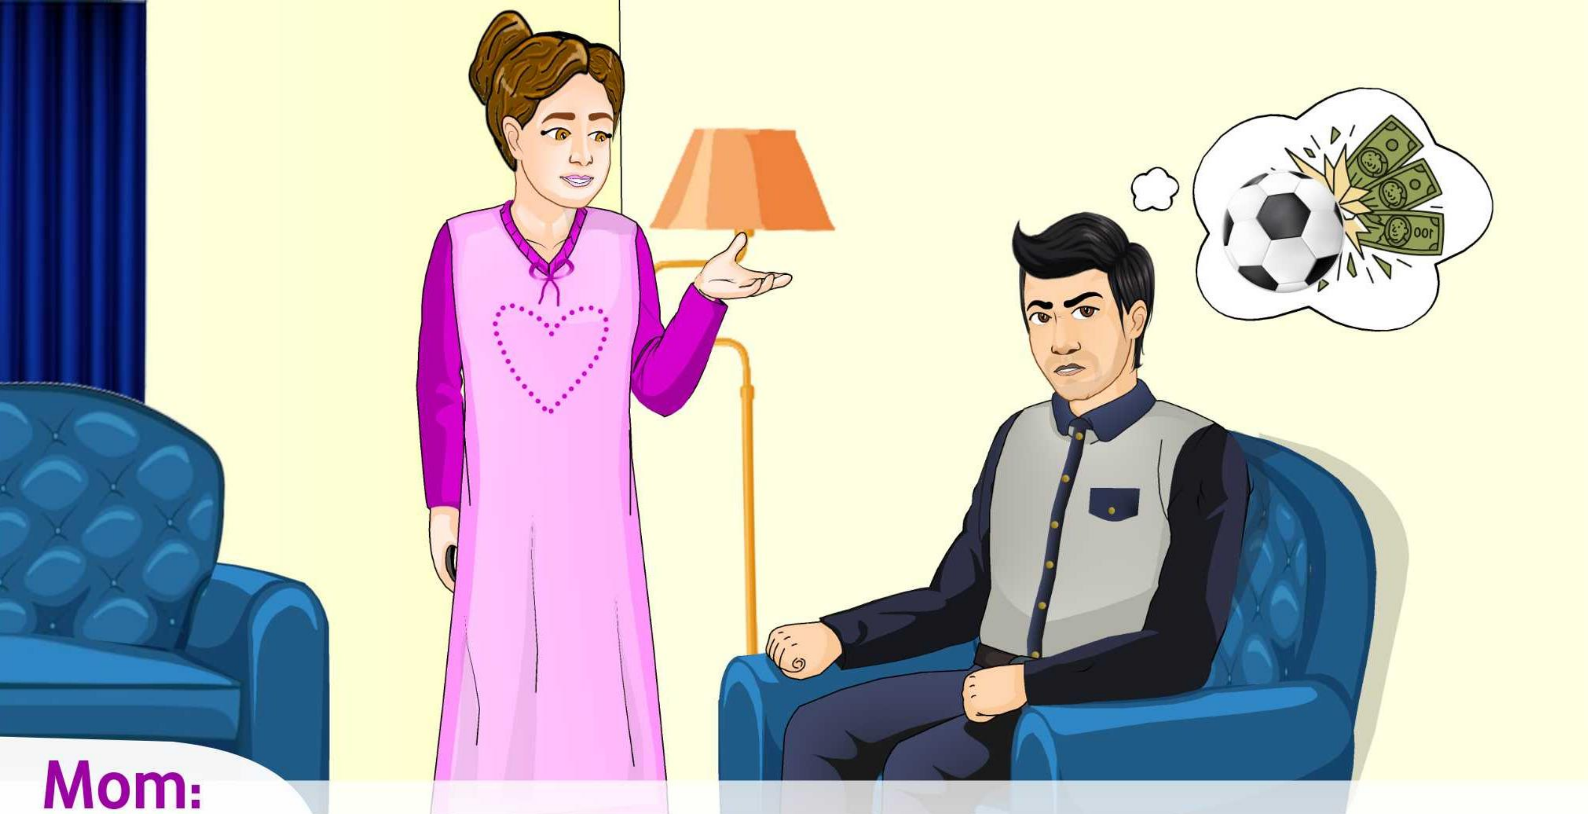

Anas:

But why do you repeat "There is no god but Allah" in this situation?

Dad:

So that I may remember that God, my only God, commands me to be patient and not angry.

Mom:

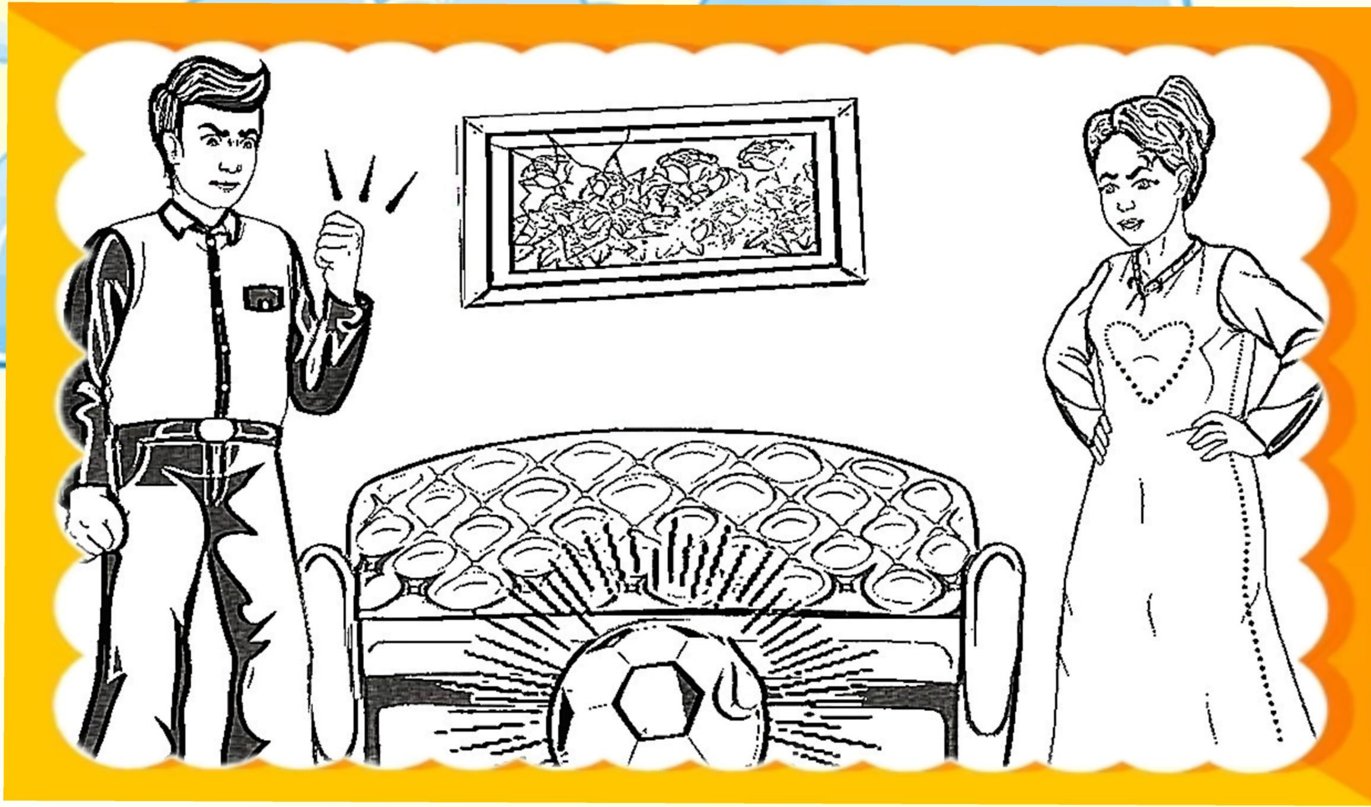

He also commands us to be tolerant and forgive.

Anas:

So I will always remind you, Dad, that La ilaha illa Allah!

Let's Color!!

Anas and The Spiritual Phrases

